T O M J O N E S

Some people are just born performers, and Tom Jones is a particularly notable case. Since the 1960s the Welsh singer has thrilled audiences around the world.

Thomas John Woodward was born in South Wales on 7th June 1940, making him, rather suitably, a Dragon in Chinese astrology. Under the western zodiac he is a Gemini.

Geminis are known for their remarkable abilities to communicate with others, and are famously good talkers – traits perfect for the showbusiness career that Jones would throw himself into whole-heartedly.

As a child, Tom disliked school, possibly in a large part due to his dyslexia. But he did take a shine to singing, and regularly performed in the school choir and at special occasions. His singing would be the key to building his confidence, while the Gemini traits of wit and eloquence earned him respect amongst his peers.

After performing in Welsh bands, Jones' illustrious solo career took off in 1965 when his famous single 'It's not Unusual' rocketed its way to the top of the UK charts. He became known for his energetic and vigorous style, hallmarks of the Gemini personality, and soon gained the respect and adoration of fans throughout the world.

In the five decades of Jones' career, he has seldom been content to stay in one genre of music. Instead, he constantly reinvents his style and experiments with diverse genres, from rock n' roll and country to pop and gospel. In light of the inquisitive nature of many Geminis, this exploration of different styles seems only natural.

Enter the Welsh dragon

Those born under the Chinese year of the Dragon are renowned for their boundless energy and strong personalities. Despite an occasional predisposition towards arrogance, their confidence often earns them many fans. Dragons are great believers in pursuing every challenge, and as a result they often accomplish great things in life. As a typically tenacious Welsh dragon, Tom Jones is a perfect example.

The seemingly limitless supply of confidence and charisma can sometimes lead to a dragon's downfall, but Jones seems to have found a balance that has ensured his longevity and continued popularity. Dragons like Tom are predisposed towards competitiveness. This is one of the things that has allowed him to outlast virtually all of his showbusiness peers.

Both dragons and Geminis are known for their youthfulness, with Gemini being linked to Mercury, the planet of youth. These twin influences may be instrumental to the crooner's continued success and youthful appeal, even at the age of 71.

Love life of a sixties sex symbol

Geminis however are immensely aware of their own attractiveness, and may be prone to infidelity. With a number of high profile affairs in his past, Tom Jones appears to be no exception. Despite these indiscretions though, he remains wedded to his childhood sweetheart, whom he married in 1957.

Tom Jones may be seen as an embodiment of the determination, talent and charisma of both Geminis and Dragons. By the looks of it, his success and popularity is far from waning. Provided he keeps his ego in check and overcomes the Dragon's inflexibility, it wouldn't be unusual if we continued to hear from this crooner for at least another decade.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 19)

Sometimes your creative energy wants to reach for the stars when the best opportunities are right in your neighbourhood. There is a lot you can do this month without straying far from home, and the effects go deeper than you might think. But why does that friend or lover insist on criticizing a healthy change you've made for yourself? Most likely because he or she doesn't want to be left out in the cold while you enter a new phase of life. Once you invite them in, and challenge them to grow alongside you, everything changes. It's frankly not a great month for new love, but good prospects are not far off.

Taurus (Apr 20 - May 20)

With so many sensual delights around you, the risk of excess is real. Spending, eating, drinking—these are all areas to keep an eye on. Discipline may seem like the furthest thing from your mind, but like chocolate, just a little goes a long way. In relationships, you've been looking for the balance between lighthearted fun and serious commitment, wondering if both at the same time is too much to ask. Fortunately, you can have both—but not if you or your partner is hiding something. Honesty is the key ingredient to keeping things fresh. If you're planning a new business or financial move, don't bother until after the 27th.

Gemini (May 21 - June 21)

What could be better than a birthday bash with special VIP guest? This is an astrological reality for you, as the mighty planet Jupiter enters your sign. Expect a turbo boost of brain power and good luck, stretching into the foreseeable future. Not a bad present, is it? Your love life is even implicated—in a good way—and a new moon later in the month confirms that you are right where you want to be. Now for the bad news...well actually, there doesn't have to be any bad news! Just enjoy yourself, do what comes naturally, and show plenty of gratitude for positive energies at work in your world.

Horoscopes June 2012

Saturn resumes direct motion late in the month, but not before teaching us a few healthy lessons.

Call 0800 422 0422 for more details

Libra (Sept 23 - Oct 22)

You're fascinated by a fresh pursuit, ready to learn something new, and you have the brainpower to make it happen—good for you, Libra. Your instincts of personal growth and development are on fire. But where does that leave your home life, and your relationships? If you turn your back on these things now, it will come back to bite you later. A significant other, for example, is experiencing something intense on a spiritual level. More than anything else, he or she needs an attentive ear that isn't distracted by other concerns. Keep this in mind, even when it feels like a chore, and you'll still have plenty of space to play.

Scorpio (Oct 23 - Nov 21)

During times of enhanced psychic sensitivity—which come quite often in Scorpio land—the best approach is to feel your way through every situation. An ounce of intuition is worth a pound of rational thinking this month, and if you can get it working for you, there are career and financial benefits to be reaped. The trick is to learn where intuition stops and white noise begins. Daily doses of meditation, even just turning inward for a few minutes between tasks, will help you do just this. When a friend criticizes your behaviour, meet for coffee and gently remind them that things aren't always as they appear on the surface.

Sagittarius (Nov 22 - Dec 21)

Love, love, love. . . don't be surprised if that song gets stuck in your head this month, what with the number planets concentrating in the relationship zone of your chart. You'll see a new side of your lover that you didn't quite know before. This will either irritate you or turn you on, depending on the day, but if it's going to last, you'll have to get used to discovering new things about each other. Are you flying solo? Watch out—Jupiter makes a big transition later in the month, and any new connection has the power to last. But with all this focus on a relationship, whether new or old, it's easy to lose track of yourself. That's where a good friend comes in.

Cancer (June 22 - July 22)

When someone presses you to put your feelings into words, and you find it quite impossible, it's okay to be honest and tell them as much—they'll understand. Your silence might even have them panting after you, especially if it's a significant other. The truth is, you've got a lot on your internal plate this month, and sorting everything out can feel like a full-time job that you're not being paid for. But look on the bright side—the sun slips into your sign this month, and when that happens, everything looks a lot better. You'll be laughing again in no time, and your smile will look even better.

Leo (July 23 - Aug 22)

Re-connecting with old friends moves a ton of energy for you this month. Some of these relationships could find new life—others definitely will not—but doors will open simply by getting in touch. This might also mean heading back to a club or gathering you once attended. If nothing else, it will allow you to appreciate how much you've changed. Love relationships are a challenge, and you find yourself arguing about something you could have sworn was left behind. It'll get easier around the 24th when Saturn turns direct, but until then, try not to say anything you'll regret later on.

Virgo (Aug 23 - Sep 22)

Don't be shy, Virgo—you know you've got it going on at work. If you keep handling things so well, it's only a matter of time before the people upstairs get to talking. An attractive co-worker, moreover, might get to thinking that maybe the two of you should get together after hours. All fine and good if you're single and interested, but if you're in a relationship, beware that your significant other is operating with uncanny radar, allowing him or her to sniff out the slightest hint of betrayal. Best to lay it on the line for all parties involved. A transparent situation works best for everyone, and the chips have an easier time falling where they may.

“You can't control what everybody thinks of you, but you can choose to cultivate a healthy perception of yourself.”

Capricorn (Dec 22 - Jan 19)

Your energy and focus have been dimmer than usual in recent months, as you've been dealing with underlying psychic issues. This was inevitable, and it's almost time for your normal ambitious self to take the reins again—just as soon you make a crucial change in your routine. Fortunately, whatever is holding you back is easy to eliminate, and when the mojo comes back late in the month, you'll see the value in the work you've done. Love vibrations are particularly strong during the final week, when both Saturn and Venus resume direct motion. All the more reason to do your homework early and be ready to reap the rewards when the time comes.

Aquarius (Jan 20 - Feb 18)

Don't bang your head against the wall when you find it hard to concentrate this month. Being distracted is not always a bad thing. In this case, the stars want you to lighten up, get out more, enjoy yourself. Things will change soon enough, and you can get back to a solid routine in pursuit of your goals—but right now, it's all about Summer. Love is in the picture as well, but nothing too serious. If you're single, the best approach when meeting someone is to go with the flow and have no expectations. After that, who knows? As the stars change, you might find it developing into something more.

Pisces (Feb 19 - Mar 20)

Tense communication between a friend or lover is never your first choice. This time, it works wonders to stop talking and start doing. Helping each other with something definite, such as a project around the home, allows trapped energy to shift. Different people are seeing you in very different ways, and your psychic sensitivity is even stronger than usual. The temptation will be to try and take everything into account and act accordingly. You're better off staying in your center and allowing people to think what they will. You can't control what everybody thinks of you, but you can choose to cultivate a healthy perception of yourself.

new love

We all want to meet that special person who makes our life complete. We hope the ideal relationship will fill the empty gaps and make us whole, but we are often our own worst enemy in attracting new love. Why?

First, we believe we are not worthy of the best and highest love because of messages from our parents or negative past relationships. We begin to believe these subliminal messages as our reality. The sub-conscious mind is all powerful and shapes our beliefs about ourselves.

Second, we set expectations of how love should be, and we become discouraged when those expectations are deflated. We seek to control the outcome ourselves rather than trusting in divine will, especially when we meet someone new. A new person can sense anxiety and desperation; they will feel the expectation being placed on them. We forget that each of us must be responsible for our own happiness.

Third, we send mixed messages to potential partners - who often-times are equally confused - instead of deciding what we want from a new relationship and sticking to it.

Dating again after a breakup

A major breakup can leave the best of us feeling insecure. Keep in mind that you are a lovable and valuable person, and that happiness is available to everyone. We are not meant to stay hurt. In the words of the Dalai Lama - "our true business is to be happy!"

People often ask psychics just when they will meet the right person. The truth is, the universe will help us as long as we are willing to help ourselves. If we hide away from love, it has a hard job finding us!

Keep a mental list of the criteria you expect from a new relationship, but don't be too rigid as you may sabotage a good prospect. Because we are all unique individuals, a healthy relationship is a set of healthy compromises.

Staying active mentally and physically is, of course, hugely beneficial for attracting the kind of love you want. If you have been thinking of joining a gym or a new social group, follow through with it - you never know where love might show up. Follow your intuitive flashes and trust that the Universe will guide you toward the fulfillment of your wishes.

Six easy ways to attract genuine, healthy love ♥

+ Believe that you are worthy of genuine love and romance - it is your birthright.

+ If someone complicates your life, don't be afraid to walk away. Don't compromise your standards to find acceptance.

+ Use positive affirmations like this one, repeating each line three times.

I know that I deserve Love and accept it now.

I attract only healthy relationships.

I trust in the process of life.

I am at peace.

+ Remember that according to universal law, like attracts like. If you feel confident and positive, you will attract the same qualities in another person.

+ If you had jealousy issues in previous relationships, take steps to overcome them. Old problems aren't magically fixed by new relationships. Things like jealousy are powerful psychic forces that can send shockwaves through many successive relationships, if not dealt with.

+ Honor yourself at all times, and make you your number one priority.

Manifesting your --- Dream Job

by barney battles

For many people, the belief is that their dream job is just that—an unattainable ideal that exists only in the realm of fantasy. However, it is just that frame of mind that prevents people from achieving their full potential—in any aspect of life. The truth of the matter is that, by changing the way you think and focussing your psychic energies on a particular goal, nothing is beyond your grasp.

The first step is to consider what sort of job you want. Rather than concentrate on the material gains such as a wage increase, it is better to consider just what would bring greater satisfaction into your life. The subconscious has no need for money, but it does have a need for spiritual nourishment. Whether you are sure of your dream job or not, the best way to 'fine tune' your desires is through meditation. A relaxed, trance-like state allows your subconscious to communicate more easily with your conscious mind. During this state, consider what it is that would bring you happiness in your work. Allow your mind to drift through the possibilities that you feel would bring the best out of you in a work environment. There is no need to be specific just yet; you may come away with just a feeling about the type of job you want to do. This is your psychic self-preparing to release your true potential.

—Concentrate on the negative as well as the positive—

Strangely, the next stage is to concentrate on negative thoughts – but only to turn them into positive ones. These meditations can be conducted just as you wake up or just before you go to sleep, when the subconscious is becoming more alert and your conscious mind is preparing to rest. During these meditations you should first consider what is preventing you from achieving your dream job. It might be that you don't feel you have the necessary skills to fulfil the post, or that you are experiencing resistance from someone close to you. Whatever the reasons, you must try and visualise them, rather like a film playing in your head, in which you are the star.

As these vignettes play in your mind, stop the film when you feel you have come to the crux of the matter. You may have visualised an argument with someone or yourself failing in your dream position. At this point 'freeze the frame' and mentally remove the colour from the picture, making it like a black and white photograph. Once the colour is gone, visualise that picture getting smaller and smaller, until you can no longer see it. By doing this, you are telling your unconscious that you are getting rid of your old, negative thoughts and are clearing the path for your innate abilities and powers to manifest in your conscious self. In effect, this is like a psychic 'spring clean'.

—Bring back the positive—

The third stage of these meditations is to focus on the positive. These visualisations are best conducted during the day. Although they will require a little more psychic effort, you are telling your subconscious that you are prepared to put the work in to achieve your dreams. In these sessions, you should visualise yourself in your dream job as a complete success. Focus on how this success makes you feel and use that feeling to exaggerate the pictures in your mind. Make them colourful and bright and even make note of the clothes you are wearing and the environment and people that surround you.

These details will help your subconscious to psychically 'reset' itself, programming it to prepare you on all levels. Over time, this programming will seep into your conscious mind, promoting new thoughts. You may find yourself dressing differently, behaving more optimistically and discovering new ideas on how to proactively achieve your aim.

The subconscious is a powerful tool. By eliminating any negative thoughts and promoting the positive aspects of yourself you are, in effect, creating a psychic CV that will show itself when the right opportunity arises!

WHEN DID YOU FIRST REALISE YOU WERE PSYCHIC?

When I was very small, about four or five, I became aware that I had abilities I now know as 'psychic'—as did most of my family. I thought everyone saw and heard 'ethereal' things, and it was only when I grew older that I realized we were the exception and not the norm.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD PSYCHIC READING?

I like to do an attunement meditation before I begin work. Empathy with the client is essential, as well as the ability to listen. I believe it is a reader's responsibility to be sincere and tell the truth, no matter how difficult. When confronting difficult or sensitive issues, it is vital to be encouraging, gentle and to steer your client through any 'turbulence' leaving them confident and uplifted. It is also good to work with Star Temple clients because they are so open to the spiritual aspects of life.

TELL US ABOUT A MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE WITH A CLIENT.

In one reading, it became clear that my client would not become engaged to her boyfriend as she hoped, and that she would travel and work overseas, meeting and marrying a foreigner. I also saw children for her within three years. At the time, she was disappointed because it wasn't what she wanted to hear. Recently she came to see me, and brought me a box of chocolates. I asked her why and she said that at the time of the reading she was disappointed because she wanted to marry her then boyfriend—but it didn't work out and she got a job in Paris, married the boss and has a lovely baby boy! The chocolates were her apology for doubting my word.
